

This is absurd. I have already spent thousands of dollars for my HDTV system, and now I will be forced to spend thousands more to upgrade, just for a copyright protection system that will quickly be cracked and out of date? The general public of the united states are not thieves, we work hard and pay our taxes. We should not be punished for the acts of the criminals, the same criminals who will inevitably figure out a way around whatever copyright system you use.